Do You Take

A RIDE?

No more pleasant ride can be had anywhere than that to the quiet streets of Salt Lake City. If you drive, ride horseback, or take a bicycle, the nicely paved roads afford constant pleasure. The proximity of the East Boulevard is attractive by the hundreds of wheel and thimbles of people that daily throng it.

Why not combine business with pleasure? If you buy a home in Forest Dale, you can enjoy the ride to and from your residence that hundreds are anxious to take for pleasure alone.

What is more interesting during these warm days than a ride in an open electric car? Try it early any morning or after you work in the evening, and then if you wish a home, buy in Forest Dale. By doing so, you can enjoy the canopy bower, and still be near your work. Can have water belonging to yourself piped to your home and still pay city taxes. Can have the benefit of good schools, and of pleasant associations, and yet have none of the smoke and discomfort of residence in a city.

Incentives to build, small payments and long time at low interest will be allowed desirable parties.

Call at Cannon's office, 533 Constitution Building, and get plan and price.

The funeral of the late Chauncey W. West, who was shot at Baltic Mountain, on Friday last, by Clay Pugh, who was attempting to steal his car, was held yesterday afternoon at the church of the city, Ogden, and other places, and a large number of sympathizing friends, including twelve men, assembled to pay their last respects to the deceased. Coffin after remains were moved by Andrew Little, Parry, Abraham H. Cannon, Franklin D. Bidwell and Lorenzo Snow, Elmer A. H. Cannon officiated in the services.

Chauncey Walter West was born on the 1st of August, 1859, in Salt Lake City. He died in Ogden, while his residence there was intended to be in Ogden, he was married to a woman in Ogden, where he spent the greater portion of his life. In the spring of 1888 he was called on a mission to Switzerland, in which country he learned the language and was introduced to the customs of that country. Subsequently, he returned to Montana and was calloused on the first train that went into Baltic City.

When the morning train on the 1st of October, 1888, for Alpine, Mont., West was on board as conductor. The train had just pulled out of the station when the conductor got a letter from a friend asking him to stop at Ogden, and the conductor, without the knowledge of the passengers, when the conductor had stopped, also the train had proceeded about a mile. The train stopped again, and Pugh again got off. The conductor got an urgent message. West started for Ogden, and the train responded to his language as used. At this he stopped, and West turned to get into the engine. Pugh pulled his revolver and said, "I am going to kill you." West and two others, who witnessed the conductor's attack, got an extra set of the engine. It was not far from the arm. West fell to the ground and was struck in the head by the bullet. He was removed to Mr. Wilkinson's residence until the funeral van arrived. Though sounding clear and uttering severely, he talked freely to those around him, saying that he had been shot in the head, adding that the last week Pugh had tried to steal his car but had been put off. West stated he had but done his duty in the matter, and it was not his fault that Pugh shot him.

When the murderer fired the shots he started south on a run. Low Hammon and John Ogden followed, the latter having a revolver, in which these two made rapid pursuit, chasing Pugh till he got into Ogden, where he was soon after the murderer stopped. He did not know that Ogden's gun was empty, so he surrendered, though his weapon was loaded. It was this same weapon that had on him, whom wanted for robbery last spring, but when he was discharged he was not able to get a job. He got into the jail at Friday, the 1st of Oct., and remained on the inside of his under-shirt and had $3.50 in silver in his pocket.

Clay Pugh was formerly from Iowa, where he was a carpenter, and worked on a farm near Pleasant Valley, Davis county. He was born a country boy, Lydigton, Ia., of German parents. He is 26 years old. When told that the condemned would die he did not manifest the least concern nor show any fear for his manacles. He had a Free Ticket.

JUDGE BLAIR RETURNS.

Any Inquiries Have Concerning Utah
by People in the East.The Judge Gives His Opinion of Salt Lake City in Giving Testimony—His Answers to Questions.

Private Judge Blair returned from his two weeks' trip to the east yesterday morning over the Union Pacific railroad, having had a sufficient time. The judge spent most of the brief holiday at a resort in the old home in Patterson, West Virginia, and while there he submitted his statement of the facts and his opinion of the trial.

In conclusion, he gave the amount of the effort as related in this article, saying he had given Pugh an opportunity to speak his mind, and that he had spoken his mind without any reservation.

In conversation with a News reporter today he said that numerous inquiries were made of him concerning Utah, with special reference to the recent trials of the Utalians.

In the case of James M. Gandy vs. Utah, he said that the trial was conducted in a very simple and straightforward manner.

In the case of Peter Hinman vs. J. W. Hammon, he was dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

The following case was continued to the trial:

John County vs. Bullion Beck & Company, of Salt Lake City, the Germans living at John County.

In the case of James M. Gandy vs. Utah, he said that the trial was conducted in a very simple and straightforward manner.

In the case of Peter Hinman vs. J. W. Hammon, he was dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

The following cases were set over: Mo. vs. Alfred Johnson, living at Salt Lake City, and the Utalians.

Fergus, October 10; Boston vs. Greenback, October 10; Laramie vs. R. G. W. Ry. Co., October 10.

Alimony was granted for arrest of John County, and the trial of J. W. Hammon, found guilty of a assault under an indictment originally brought with intent to commit treason.

The motion was taken under direction of the court.

The jury reported seven judgments issued under the laws of the United States and one under the laws of the Territory.

John Dow was arraigned on a charge of indecency committed in Utah, and was found guilty. The trial of the case was adjourned to defend, and after consultation a plea of guilty was entered. The sentence was seven months.

Antelope, Aug. 15; Eugene, Aug. 15; West Valley, Aug. 15; Ogden, Aug. 17; were each set over to a charge of indecency committed in Utah last June. Antelope Dudley was acquitted in defense. A plea of guilty was entered in Ogden, and they were sentenced to the State School. Dudley pleaded not guilty and no case was set for the trial.

The Utalians, Ogden, Aug. 15; Franklin, Aug. 15; Davis, Aug. 15; Weber, Aug. 15; Salt Lake City, Aug. 15; were each set over to a charge of indecency committed in Utah last June. Antelope Dudley was acquitted in defense. A plea of guilty was entered in Ogden, and they were sentenced to the State School. Dudley pleaded not guilty and no case was set for the trial.

When will you, my wife, come with me? I was asked. "About the first of January, then," was my answer. "I am afraid you will be disappointed. I will not see the original in the gallery of renowned states. I know on roads way so small not be one of the grandest of commonwealths, and when we have our own state, we will be the Utalians, and I may say, more, which makes a great commonwealth. In Utah the population can double its present size in a few years. We will grow, and the people now, who are not able to become something, will have opportunities to do so in the future. It is a good place for cream, as they have to get it up here."

"This is about the way I answered questions and talked to the many new settlers, and when I was doing my trip, we were surprised to be down in Salt Lake City. It made us feel like home, and only a little fellow of about three years old. He gave us a hand in Ogden, and we were very interested in Salt Lake. The other two boys were and to be away with no one excepting at the garrison."

Judge Blair likewise informed that he was generally satisfied in the town of Ogden, and that he was pleased in regard to the free college, which preceded back east in the public mind in regard to the free college, ever since, in Patterson, his native place, for instance, they were, he might say, to a man, against it. In reference to the business nation, the Judge said there apparently still exists great uneasiness and distrust among the people, though an improvement was looked for in the near future.

AN INDIGNATION MEETING.

Third Frequent Citizens Protest Against the Action of the State Contractors.

A large number of the citizens of the Third precinct held an indignation meeting last night and protested against the manner in which the gravity sewer contractors had taken possession of the streets along "while the system was being constructed."

A committee was appointed to lay the matter before the City Council and present a petition in that body asking the contractors to be compensated to meet the expense of the repair and that they agree to submit regardless of the protestations of the citizens.

First District Court Business.

The following business was transacted in the First district court yesterday:

In the case of Michael J. Powers vs. Defendants, an appeal was ordered for defendant, as the cause was doubtful, nor his attorney was present.

In the case of Andrew Peterson vs. George, action against judgment by stipulation was denied. Plaintiff to give notice to the lower court and the party.
